

New Gym to Be Scene of B. W. and F. Meet

Strictly Sport...

By NORMAN CARDON

Lady Luck on the Fence...
Hold your hats and keep your fingers crossed. Either McGill comes through this week-end, or else...

Or else disaster. This is the biggest week-end as far as sports go. There are several hockey games, one of which is what is commonly termed "crucial". There is an intercollegiate ski meet, there is an intercollegiate swimming meet, there are two basketball games, of the same "crucial" variety, and there was one other thing... Oh yes, a B. W. and F. meet.

First, hockey...

McGill shouldn't have too much difficulty with Dartmouth. The Indians admit that they aren't what they used to be, which was never anything to write home about. One of the chief reasons for their weakness lies in the fact that they have poor practice facilities. In the month of December, when other college teams were skating away on artificial ice, Eddie Jeremiah, the Dartmouth coach, had to tour the countryside looking for a frozen pond for his boys to practice on. They have an indoor rink at Dartmouth, but the ice is natural. Not so strange. Whenever it gets cold outdoors, they open the doors of the rink and have a huge fan blow in the wintry blast. And when the weather is warm they shut the doors so that the ice won't melt. Simple, but not too satisfactory.

Second, basketball...
There is nothing very subtle about the basketball team. They embark on their annual "suicide trip" which pits them against Toronto and Western on two successive nights, and which either makes them or breaks them. It made them last year, and I think they have the goods this year too.

Third, skiing...
The McGill ski team is now in Northfield, Vermont, where the I. S. U. Meet is being held. The McGill ski team is minus one of its stars, and badly crippled. Chris Mamen, who finished close behind Percy Rideout in the cross-country at Dartmouth, and who was the only Redman to place among the first ten in the jumping is quietly cursing a fractured ankle. Fred Moore went with the team, but he carried with him a bad cold. Doug Mann's cold is worse. George Moore's ankle is still twice its normal size. Don Tirrell's shoulder is no better than it was two weeks ago when he could barely move it. And the irony of it all... The course on which the downhill is being run is called Blood Trail. Furthermore, it is on Payne Mountain.

Lastly, B. W. F....

Today a dream of a whole decade of McGill students will suddenly become a reality. They will be able to walk into a gymnasium of their own to witness a sports event. They will be entertained by a colourful (Continued on Page Four)

TEAM ON SUICIDE TRIP

Clash in Most Crucial Tilt of Season This Weekend

Just who will wear the 1940 intercollegiate basketball crown should be decided this weekend as McGill's sharpshooters engage Toronto and Western tonight and tomorrow night in their annual trip into the hinterlands.

Coach Van Wagner's boys left yesterday afternoon for the Queen City and if trains run on time, they should have a full day before their first tilt.

In a schedule that has run true to form to last year's results, no team has remained undefeated. Western has emerged as the team to beat, and as McGill did this very thing in their local encounter, they should be able to repeat the procedure. The Mustangs dropped their opening engagement to Varsity.

Till then Toronto appeared to furnish the biggest opposition to McGill's championship hopes. The Redmen got off to a bad start by losing to the Gaels in Kingston, but the Tricolours are just about out of the race with losses to both Western and Varsity. They are regarded as the weak sisters of the league.

Several weeks of rest to Warren Sandberg's elbow should add valuable points to McGill's attack. Wykes on the forward line showed in the Mustang game that his ankle causes no trouble by leading the night's scorers. Captain Dave Kingston, "caveman" Hugh Purdie and Frankie Giannasio will complete the regular scoring punch.

Two wins will just about decide the title in McGill's favour and break the three team tie that shared the title last year. With the exception of Ayton Keyes, the team is exactly the same as last year's model, and is top favourite for the championship.

Van Wagner will have nine men to choose from for the twin contests. Besides Purdie, Wykes, Kingston, Giannasio and Sandberg, Art Kalifas, Al Drysdale, Bert Holdredge and Sam Mislav will be making the trip.

SHORT RECESS

Lectures in all faculties and schools of the University, except in Medicine, Dentistry, and Music, will be cancelled during the short recess, Saturday 24th February to Tuesday 27th February, inclusive.

McGill Skimen Prepare
For Intercollegiate MeetDownhill, Slalom
Today Opening
Events in I.S.U.

By DREW GIBB.

Northfield, Vermont, February 22.—The Intercollegiate Ski Union Meet is scheduled to get underway tomorrow when the downhill and slalom events will be held. The weather is ideal, the snow fast, with a slight crust, and all in all the outward conditions for the competition are perfect.

But within the McGill camp itself all is not well, for the Red team is inopportunistly riddled with injuries. George Moore has a chipped ankle bone, Don Tirrell a sore shoulder, while Fred Moore and Doug Mann are both recovering from attacks of the flu. As if this were not bad enough, Chris Mamen, Red jumping star, is definitely out of all competition with a broken bone in his ankle suffered while practicing at the Cote des Neiges jump. He did not make the trip.

The downhill is fast, bumpy, and tricky while the slalom course is comparatively short. Fred Moore, Townsend, Scott and possibly Doug Mann are expected to enter both these events.

Peculiar Jump.

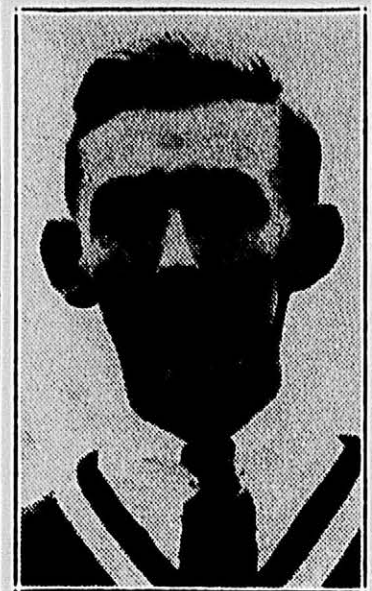

The jumping and cross country competitions will get underway on Saturday. The Northfield's jump has a rather peculiar take-off, which has a long chute like the runway to a slalom course. The landing is good, a fact which should tend to offset further injury to the McGill team. Don Tirrell, George Moore and Pete Kertland were out practicing today for the jumping event with the last mentioned managing to make the most headway. Moore's ankle seemed greatly improved and it is hoped that it will be sufficiently recovered by Saturday to allow him to compete in the jumping event.

A least four teams are expected to enter the meet, McGill, Dartmouth, Middlebury, and New Hampshire. In this meet the weakened Redmen will not only be up against the always strong Green Indians of Dartmouth but will also meet up with keen competition against the other two vastly improved teams. The spirit of the Carnival has risen to a fever pitch at Northfield and ice statues rivaling those of the Dartmouth carnival have been erected.

HOCKEY NOTICE

There will be an unofficial practice for those interested members of the Intermediate and Junior Teams. The Junior Game Saturday against Westmount is at 1 p.m. Intermediate game Saturday against Loyola at 8 p.m. Will the following meet at the Forum at 8:45: Fyfe, Palmer, Chalmers, Cuke, Harvey, Read, Macdonald, Hebert, Winsor, Stronach, Halliday.

SKI LEADER

DON TIRRELL, McGill captain, will be counted on heavily despite an injury.

Coed Squad
At KingstonHockeyists Play
Queen's Tomorrow Night

By Winnifred

Bonaventure Station will be the scene of much excitement Saturday morning at 9:15 when the R.V.C. leaves for Kingston to play against the Queens' coed hockey team. Last year in a closely contested game the R.V.C. managed to eke out a lead of 4-3 win but in doing so both Ainslie Mitchell and Mary Mathews were injured. It is hoped that nothing so drastic will happen this year.

Unfortunately the coeds have not been able to get in many ice games as yet this season and will have to depend on their weekly practices and their game with a boys squad last Wednesday. The coeds did admirably well in this tilt with the final score being 4-3, considering that they had to compete with a group of men students who were very serious players and weren't very partial to giving the girls a break. All in all the coeds found the game very tiring, and hope that the fun loving Engineers will remember their sense of humour and not be too hard on the girls next Wednesday. Who was it that started that legend about the weaker sex?

Grove Stars

Sylvia Grove who was a star player on last year's squad came to the forefront again on Wednesday by netting several of her team's points. The coeds had a hard time of it and found it necessary to place every member of the team on the ice to keep the margin between the scores down.

The squad that will represent McGill at Queen's is composed of the following members. Marg Baly a new player as the goalie who is a very promising player, Rosamund Staples, the former Bishop's star, and Betty Scarth form a strong defence. (Continued on Page Four).

GAME TOMORROW

Redmen at Full Strength—
Green Team Weaker
Than Last Year

Seeking to regain their winning ways, the McGill hockey team will take on the Dartmouth Indians at Hanover tomorrow in the last game the Redmen have this year against American teams. Formerly the pick of the American teams, Dartmouth has been having a tough time of it defending their Quadrangular League title this year and should be easy for the Red Raiders who have finally found their scoring punch.

A win in this game is absolutely necessary for the Reds to stay in the running, as Toronto has moved through its schedule at an unbeaten clip. Thus, the necessity of a victory and subsequent wins over Queens, if the game is played, and then sweet revenge against Varsity.

Team At Full Strength.

The team is at full strength and well rested for the game, with Kenny Brand's ankle rapidly on the mend. Grant Morrison, who twisted his knee slightly against Toronto two weeks ago is also fit and ready. The starting line-up will be Howie Walker, Grant Morrison and Bob Keefe on the first line, with Johnny Hibbard, Gordie Young and Bill McDonald forming the second, and Captain Cammy Dickison, Timmy Dunn, Jack Perrin and Kenny Brands will form the defence in front of goalie Walter Johnson.

Dartmouth Weak.

The Dartmouth team is weaker this year than last, having lost many men through graduation, along with "Soup" Campbell, one of the teams mainstays by way of the classroom. Their season's record to date is seven games won, four lost and two ties which isn't too bad, but not particularly good considering the usual Dartmouth record.

The game will probably end up in a low score as the Indians have an inferiority complex when it comes to playing Canadian teams and will consequently pack the defence in an effort to hold down the score. However, even though they do this, the final result should show the Redmen out in front, and still in the running in defence of their championship which they have held for the past three years.

R.V.C. BASKETBALL

Basketball practice today in R.V.C. from 4-5 for R.V.C. and Intercollegiate teams. Please be on time.

Winning Streak

The McGill swimming team arrived in Toronto at 9:30 p.m. last night, where they hope to upset Varsity's three year command of the Intercollegiate Swimming Title. The meet is to take place tonight at the Hart House pool, where Varsity will defend her title against McGill and McMaster University. Since the outset of competition McGill hold a 15-11 edge over the Blueboys who have won the last three consecutive meets.

The McGill team is full of new faces this year, Bourne and Powell being the only two regulars remaining. Nevertheless Dr. F. M. Bourne has whipped a fine team into shape as is evidenced by the terrific shelling they handed the K. of C.

Bourne Relied On

Most of the weight of the competition will fall on the shoulders of Pete Bourne, McGill's ace swimmer and poloist. Bourne won the Intercollegiate hundred yard back stroke last year, and it is hoped he will repeat this feat again this year. He is also entered in the hundred yard free style and the hundred yard relay in which his past experience will help greatly.

Alvarez-Calderon, Olympic diver from Peru, has done very well in all competitions so far and should pick up some valuable points with his polished style.

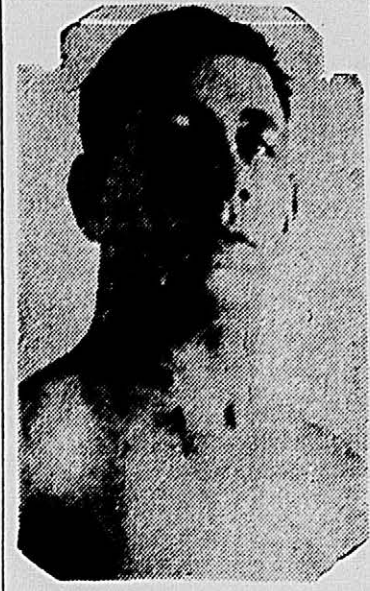

The following is a complete list of McGill entries:

MEDLEY RELAY: Mahon, Soper and A. J. Alvarez-Calderon; Withrow (reserve).
DIVING: A. M. Alvarez-Calderon.
50-YARDS: Bourne, Powell; Simpson (reserve).
440-YARDS: Raynsford, Bourne; Simpson (reserve).
BACKSTROKE: Withrow, A. J. Alvarez-Calderon; Bourne (reserve).
100-YARDS: Lewis, Powell; Soper (reserve).
200-YARDS BREASTSTROKE: Mahon, A. J. Alvarez-Calderon.
100-YARDS RELAY: Bourne, Lewis, Powell, Simpson; Soper, Mahon (reserves).

R.V.C. HOCKEY NOTICE

There will be a practice this afternoon at four o'clock and everyone interested in hockey please come out. The following girls must be there for sure—Eleanor Hunter, Mary Mathews, Ros Staples, Betty Scarth, Marg Scott, Peggy Orr, Ainslie Mitchell, Barbara Mercer, Marjorie Bely. For the team—the train leaves Bonaventure station at 9:15 Saturday morning, so everyone will have to be down at 9:00 p.m. sharp. Red sweaters, tunics, white blouses, pads, and newly sharpened skates must go with the players.

Two money-saving means of spending the winter sports week-end up north will be provided by the McGill Outing Club for 12 skiers who can stand a 20 mile a day run for three to four days and by those who are taking advantage of the party rates of the Canadian Pacific Railways. For the latter, the Athletics office is arranging the names of those signing the lists there into groups of 25 in such a way as to allow the travellers considerable choice of schedule.

The rates for the four days will be approximately the same as those for the regular week-end trips. Although each party requires the full number of 25, those returning may do so anytime within 16 days and not necessarily with the same group. Northbound trains for this excursion will leave on Friday and Saturday.

Students with the stamina for a long grind will leave at the Park Avenue station on Saturday morning for a jaunt under the direction of Mr. H. S. Johannsen. After lunch at Labelle, the party of no more than 12 will set out for Mt. Tremblant and Mr. Wheeler's cabin where they will spend the night.

STARTING TIME 8 P.M.

Toronto, Queen's, O.A.C.
Compete in Annual Assault-at-Arms

After a lapse of five long years McGill will play hosts to the intercollegiate competitors in the annual Assault-at-Arms tonight and tomorrow at the new Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gymnasium at eight o'clock. Varsity is bringing a strong team to defend the title they won with overwhelming ease at Toronto last year. Only eight of last year's champions will be competing in this meet, and several of them have changed to other divisions. So when the bell rings in the last round of the last bout tomorrow night there will be many new champions.

The fighters will weigh in at noon today and have a short respite before entering the ring tonight in the eliminating bouts to declare the finalists for tomorrow. Toronto will be the only team entered with a full complement of entries. McGill will be short two entries in the boxing in the 165 and 175 pound classes; in the wrestling they will have no representative in the 118 and 145 pound divisions. Queen's will be short of two wrestlers while Ontario Agricultural College will lack four sluggers.

Reds, Blues in Fencing

McGill and Varsity are the sole entrants in the fencing, Toronto led by their star parrier Al Garcia has had several outside tournaments this year and feel that they are ready and able to defend the title that they gained from McGill last year. The Red fencers have been reinforced this year by two new men, Doug Reilly and Jack McNiven who with Irv Smith and Jack Hermann will round out McGill's supreme challengers.

In the gymnastic competition tomorrow night Toronto will be defending their title for the seventh consecutive year. This means that the Red Gymnasts led by Dave Sproule, recent winner of the Wicksteed Competition, will have their work cut out for them.

The McGill boxers led by champion heavyweight Tom Hughes have plenty of competition. Tommie, the "slugging newt" is expected to retain his title with his "muck stick" wallop which proved to be a real sleep producer last year. (Continued on Page Four.)

Why Not a Carnival?

In a recent issue of The Varsity, student paper at the University of Toronto, there appeared an editorial advocating the organization of an annual Winter Carnival, a la Dartmouth. At the moment the idea is only a beautiful dream. A Winter Carnival—a Canadian Winter Carnival.

To anyone who has witnessed the Dartmouth Carnival, this dream seems foolish. Only one who has been to Hanover can realize the tremendous amount of work, organization, and expense that the three-day spree requires. The students start early in the year to lay plans, special committees are appointed to look after the technicalities, AND, finally, everybody enters into the spirit of the thing.

Hanover is a college town. The students live within a mile or two of some of the finest ski trails. They have the town and the trails practically to themselves. Furthermore, it is a men's college, so that those attending the college have not the same wealth of social activities that students of universities such as Toronto or McGill have.

So much for the "spirit" of the Carnival. McGill cannot attain that spirit, but that may not be entirely necessary for a successful carnival.

The technical details are more important and present a far greater obstacle. Those who were in charge of arrangements for the Intercollegiate Ski Union Meet here last year will appreciate that. Not only does it demand that officials and those in charge of arrangements donate much valuable time, but that all facilities be available.

Another problem arises. Who will enter the meet? Is it to be a Carnival for Canadian Universities? That is hardly likely, because an important part of every Carnival is a ski meet, and other Canadian colleges can hardly compete with McGill, at least for the present. Some day, perhaps, Toronto and Bishop's may be in McGill's class in skiing, but that day is still far, far away.

What then? Bring up the American college ski teams? Get Dartmouth, and New Hampshire, and Middlebury, and others to send up teams? That is possible. The other colleges have their own carnivals, none as pretentious as the show put on by Dartmouth, but quite satisfactory. But most of those colleges are within a short distance from one another. A trip to McGill may present a different story.

So at the moment a local Carnival is only a beautiful dream. It may come some day when the enthusiasm for skiing which is sweeping the continent is even more widespread, and when the many obstacles that lie in the way are removed.

Athletics For All

Why a Winter Sports Issue? Twice each year the Sports department take over the front page of the Daily. This in itself is evidence of the fact that the importance of athletics is being realized. Doctors and teachers point out the importance of keeping the body fit if the mind is to be of service.

This week-end is the most important one as far as Athletics go. All three of McGill's hockey teams will see action, the Senior Basketball are playing twice, while the Skiing B.W. & F. Gym, and Swimming teams are taking part in their respective meets. Then there is the large number of skiers, some experts, some novices, who will journey to the Laurentians and the Eastern Townships to spend a few days exercising in the open air, and forgetting the woes of college life before the inevitable "Big Push" that takes place between now and the end of the term.

RADIO FLASHES

NEXT WEEK'S MUSIC.

Part of a work by the young Soviet Russian composer, Shostakovich, will be featured on Sunday's broadcast by the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra, which will be a program of eighteenth, nineteenth, and twentieth century music.

The orchestra will perform the Suite from Shostakovich's ballet, "The Golden Age." Believed by many critics to possess one of the most original musical talents of this generation, he has been termed the "composer-laureate to the Soviet State". He has written five symphonies and two operas.

The Philharmonic will also present the "Brandenburg" Concerto No. 3 for strings, by Bach and Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 4 in F minor.

The orchestra of Les Concerts Symphoniques will on its broadcast Tuesday at 10 be directed by one of its most frequent guest conductors, Charles O'Connell. The program will include Schubert's Symphony No. 4 in C minor and three Bach transcriptions.

Schubert's fourth symphony, called the "Tragic" was composed in 1816 but was overlooked throughout his lifetime and was in fact not offered in a single performance until twenty-one years after his death.

The CBC will present on Wednesday evening at 10 a tribute to Tchaikowsky in the form of a dramatization of his life against a background of his music. A fictional aged musician, a former pupil of the master, will be represented as relating the story of Tchaikowsky's life to a young pupil.

Geoffrey Waddington will conduct a forty-five-piece orchestra in selections from the 1812 Overture, the Marche Slav, and the final movement from the Sixth Symphony. The song, "None But the Lonely Heart", will be presented by a soloist.

Records on the Air...

The two local Corporation stations reserve from day to day certain periods in which broadcasts of recorded music are presented. These programs feature recordings by the finest artists, past and present, of the finest music, and the choice can be, and is, varied. The stations could do their listeners a valuable service by issuing advance lists of the musical selections to be played, as is the custom of a number of American stations, notably WQXR, New York.

WHOM DO THEY ATTRACT?

"Campus 'Caesars' "... in a Moyse Hall putsch.

Orson Welles...

Orson Welles, the currently bearded young actor-director-producer-etc., will be joined on his Sunday night (8 o'clock) playhouse by Joan Blondell in a radio version of "Only Angels Have Wings". This, it will be remembered, is the story of the adventures befalling a Dutch owner of a commercial airfield in South America.

THIS WEEK'S MOVIES

LOEWS—Second week of G.W.T.W.
PALACE—Fred Astaire and Eleanor Powell in BROADWAY MELODY OF 1940.
CAPITOL—THE FIGHTING 69TH with James Cagney, Pat O'Brien and George Brent.

Red Cross Notes

The McGill University Branch of the Red Cross was formed at an organization meeting held on October 13, 1939, under the chairmanship of Principal Lewis W. Douglas of McGill University.

This branch is made up of five groups composed of members from the Women Associates of McGill, the McGill Alumnae Society, the McGill Women's Union, Students of Macdonald College, and a Special Group of women on the administrative staff of the University. The total number of registered members is 576.

The workroom and office of the Branch is in the Royal Victoria College. The rooms were opened on October 20 and sewing work has been carried on during six days and one evening a week. The average attendance is 18. All knitting is done away from the rooms. The work of the Macdonald College students is supervised at their own college.

The Executive has held 16 weekly meetings; there has been almost full attendance each time. A General Meeting of the Branch was held on December 4, at which the President spoke. The present and future policy of the Branch was discussed.

The Convener of the Supplies Committee reports that consignments from Red Cross have arrived regularly and promptly. She wishes to express appreciation of the co-operation, and efficient consideration of requests, received from Headquarters at all times.

SOCIETIES PLAN SKIING PARTIES THIS WEEK-END

S.C.M. Expects Large Group at Rawdon Outing

RECESS AN ADVANTAGE

I.V.C.F. to Ski in Eastern Townships, Maccoheans in Shawbridge

Three campus organizations are planning to take advantage of the short recess this coming weekend by holding ski outings to various ski resorts in the province.

The S.C.M. is expecting a very large registration for its outing which is to take place at Rawdon. The skiers will leave Saturday morning and remain in the mountains around the Rawdon resort on Monday evening. An express-room, board and transportation are included in the price, which is $8.50. All are welcome and anyone interested must register at Strathcona Hall not later than today.

The S.C.M. has drawn up a varied program for the duration of the outing. Neil Morrison, former secretary, will accompany the group and will lead the discussions on the evenings after the days' skiing is through. Singing, dancing and ping-pong are other features planned.

I.V.C.F. Outing

Together with the Canadian Youth Hostel Association, the McGill Christian Fellowship will hold a four-day ski party in the Eastern Townships with the Iron Hill Youth Hostel as its headquarters. According to the executive, there is still sufficient accommodation for three women and two men. Those interested should speak to Arlene Scott, Gordon Thomas, or Bill Weaver at the earliest opportunity. Hostel rates will prevail.

Circle Skis at Shawbridge

The Maccohean Circle has also completed arrangements for a ski outing this weekend. The outing party will take place at Shawbridge and last all day Sunday.

Those intending to go are asked to meet at either the Westmain station at 8:15 a.m. or at the Park Avenue station at 8:30. All are requested to bring their own skis. Jack Gower and Oscar Chene are making the arrangements for the outing.

Academic Freedom Subject of Arts Debate

Further Controversies of National Import Announced

Resolved that Universities Have too Much Academic Freedom" was the subject of a semi-final Arts debate held yesterday. Alex Stark, first speaker of the affirmative, defined academic freedom as the right of teachers to express what they believe to be the truth as far as possible with immunity from the loss of their position thereby. He said that we should temper freedom with judgment.

Ross Graham of the negative took the debate on a Weisian time-space ship journey and we went back to prehistoric times when the Britons were wild and the country called Germany had a leader called Hitler. The rest of the world was without universities and Germany had negative teachers. The Hitler Jugend and students were taught lies and this poison fermented in their minds leading to disastrous wars with the word-wearing Britons. Thus through the lack of academic freedom the land went to wreck and ruin.

In Canada when professors criticize the government's policies they may be verbally attacked but they are not criticised. Questionnaires may be unpopular but the interested parties are not put in concentration camps.

Geologist Explorer Talks on Queen's Reviews Questionnaire

Adventures in Arctic Alaska

Rated by Lowell Thomas as the greatest personality in the world, Father Hubbard, of the Canadian Expedition, is scheduled to speak at the Loyola Amphitheatre this week-end. Father Hubbard, who is known throughout America as "The Glacier Priest," will lecture today and tomorrow at 8:30 p.m. on his adventures in Arctic Alaska and will show sound films recording his exploits. There will also be matinees for children tomorrow and Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

"Omni-Adventures in Arctic Alaska" tells of Father Hubbard's last voyage in search of information in answer to questions that were bothering him. Where came the Eskimos? Why do they cling to bleak icy shores instead of moving to more favorable locations? What relation have the widely separated tribes in each other? The "Glacier Priest" set out after an eighteen months sojourn on King Island with the most unspoiled Eskimo tribe.

super will be served in the Normandie Roof while dancing will take place in the Main Ballroom. Bonnie Badger and his band will be imported for the occasion which the committee has stated will be a double celebration because of the two graduating classes this year. Tickets will be priced at five dollars each.

Queen's Reviews Questionnaire Day Georgians Accept C.S.A.

Referendum Monday Night Division To Decide Against Ballot

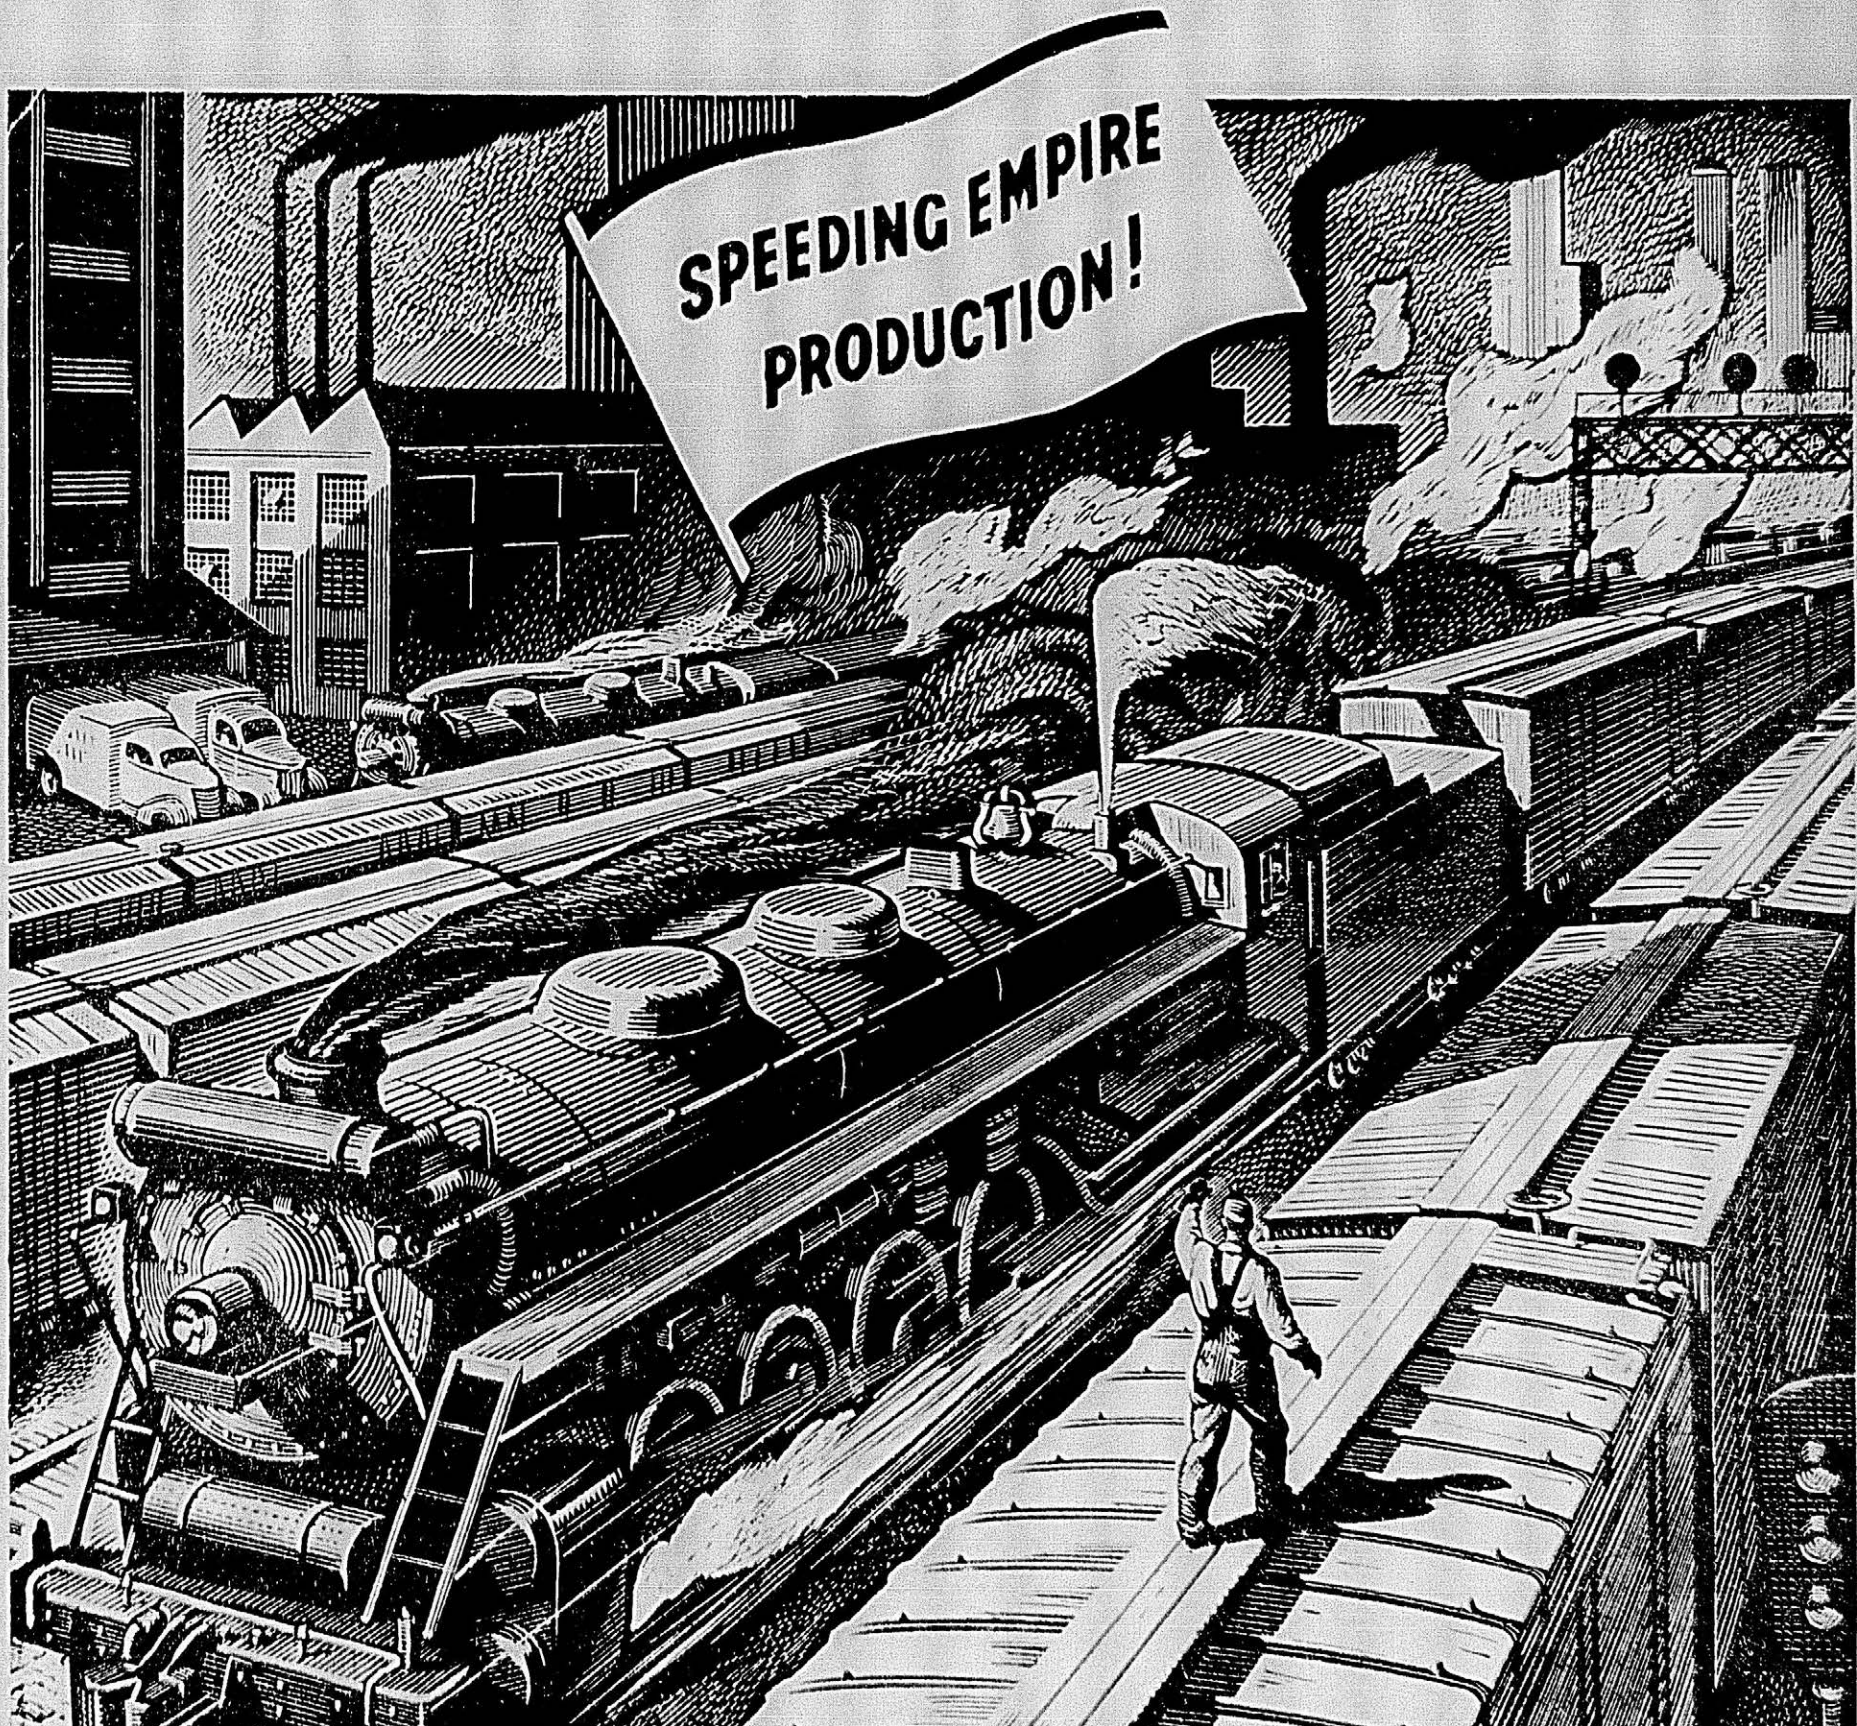

Kingston, February 22 (U.P.)—Full story after tomorrow's late flash. A referendum vote on the U.S.A. question, the first in history at Queen's, will be held here Monday to decide whether or not the Queen's Student Assembly will be permitted to circulate a revised questionnaire on conscription. The referendum was necessitated when a petition, signed by one hundred students, was presented to the Alma Mater Society by the Queen's Student Assembly.

The petition followed a stormy meeting of the Alma Mater Society Executive Tuesday night when the C.S.A. was refused permission to circulate a revised form of the controversial questionnaire on conscription. The revised version was designed to eliminate certain objections which had been raised at a previous A.M.S. Executive meeting when the questionnaire was first banned.

Discussion at the meeting was long and rambling and was featured by a successful vote asking that the ballot be banned. Following this a motion was presented calling for a referendum but this was voted down.

McGill Glee Club

There will be an important practice in the Union Grill Room at 1 p.m. on Tuesday, February 27. All those in town then are urged to turn out the concert being only two weeks away.

Canadian Nickel

HELPS KEEP FREIGHT MOVING ON SCHEDULE

Railroads in Canada and throughout the Empire are already keyed to the new production tempo. As new demands arise, they must be ready to do their part.

In Canada alone, 25 million dollars worth of railroad equipment is on order. Numerous shops are producing locomotives, and freight and express cars. To make sure that this equipment will spend the maximum amount of time in useful service, and the minimum amount of time in the repair shops, alloys of Canadian Nickel are being used for vital parts.

Nickel Steels and Nickel Cast Irons give greater strength with less weight; stand up under the strains and poundings of constant service; resist the destructive effects of heat, abrasion and corrosion.

And so the railroads, like all branches of Empire industry, are today calling for more and more Canadian Nickel. It is fortunate that, in a crisis like the present, the world's largest reserves of Nickel ore are located in the Empire—in Canada. It is gratifying to know that the Nickel smelting and refining plants have been enlarged and modernized to produce as they have never produced before.

Inspectors may be transferred to an intermediate grade, with a salary ranging from $1,800 to $2,160. It was announced that, at a later date, a few Supervising Inspectors will be appointed from those who originally took the course. These men will receive a salary ranging from $2,160 to $3,000 per annum.

The applications for the training course must be made not later than February 29, 1940.

ence, while Marg Scott should prove a strong substitute for this defence. The first line is composed of Eleanor Hunter as centre, Mary Mathews as right wing and Betty Prince as left wing. The second line will find Barbara Mercer as centre.

The coach, Miss Jean Buchanan is very optimistic. And if her optimism about her "Promising material" is as well founded as it was last year the R.V.C.-ites shouldn't have any worries at all. But only time will tell.

M.O.C. FEATURES LONG SKI TOUR

bags have been borrowed for the tourers, the only additional requirement being sleeping sheets to fit inside the sleeping bags.

Grant Townsend, who has been making arrangements for the tour stressed the fact that skiers equipment should be in the best condition in order to be sure that the party is not held up by mishaps.

Monday noon will find the group eating lunch on the trail to Ste. Agathe and Maribou House. The party, minus those who wish to leave Monday night, will continue to St. Sauveur the following day.

It has been estimated that the whole trip, including transportation and meals will not cost more than eight dollars. It is possible that there is still accommodation for one more person. All enquiries should be made to Grant Townsend at ELwood 2119 or by a note left for him on the letter board in Bill Gentleman's office.

INTERCOLLEGIATE ASSAULT-AT-ARMS

Tommie's opposition will come from G. Meen of Toronto and J. Bardswick of Queen's.

No 163, 175 Entries.

The two points at stake in the 163 and 175 pound class will go uncontested by McGill. Lou Brisenenden, who was called out this week to try to fill the gap in the 175, had to give up the effort due to the fact that he was unable to get into condition. L. Harding of McGill will draw a bye tonight and meet the winner of the Ramore-Chant bout tomorrow night in the final. Bill Ramore of Toronto, who is the holder of the 145 pound crown has advanced to the 155 class this year. Ramore is a good boxer but a better slugger and should bring plenty of action into the ring when he swings between the ropes. Doug Chant of Queen's is one of their best men and should prove a worthy opponent for Bill Ramore.

In the 145 "Shorty" Shorteno draws a bye into the finals. In the preliminary tonight, Queen's "Tony Galento" in the person of Guy Mathers will slug it out with Frank Patterson of Toronto. Patterson won his bout against the Coast Guard entry when the Blue Boys met these foes last week. Vaughn Mason, McGill's track star, will meet "Sluggo" Stanley of Toronto. Stanley is conceded to be a strong contender but Vaughn should come through and make the final. In the other bout of this class Bill Lesy of Queen's will parry blows with "Smithy" Smith of O.A.C. The winner of this latter bout will be a strong contender for the final tomorrow night, as both men pack plenty of dynamite in their gloves.

McGill's entry in the 125, "Stiny" Stinson will meet Mike Swick of Toronto. This bout should be a toss up with both men showing plenty of ability. Abe Bazerman, a winner two years ago in the 118 class, returns again to the ring to meet Beach of O.A.C.

Wrestlers Strong

Jack Carrere of O.A.C. will defend his title in the 118 pound wrestling class. McGill has no entry in this division. The injury bug that has caused so much grief to a number of the McGill squads this year has visited the mat team as well. Looker, who was to have wrestled in the 145 class, is out for the meet on account of an injured ear. This means that there will be no entry in this class for McGill.

The other members of the team are in fine fettle and are awaiting tonight's bouts. The boys had a practice last night at the "Y" to limber up their muscles and make sure their weight was right.

The new men on the team this year have made good showings in their practices. Sabbath is in good condition. Charters has plenty of fight in him. King is a store-house of endurance and Bede the heavy-weight, is a real Samson for strength topping the scales at well over 200 pounds. Todd and Scott have both wrestled in intercollegiate competition before and with this added experience should give a good account of themselves.

ARTS-SCIENCE DEBATERS VIE

Supporting the curtailment of academic freedom Edward Joseph said that professors should tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but. He related his experience in a southern university where a professor on current events gave the class a biased account of politics by telling only half the truth, and suggested that the government, or some official should prescribe the balance that he should keep. Freedom of speech is all very well but it should be in keeping with decency among other things. The Judge, Prof. Forsey gave the decision to the affirmative.

Other Debates.

This afternoon the first year teams will debate on: "Resolved that the Canadian Newspaper is in a Deplorable Situation." Max Popovitch and Gordon Stewart supporting the contention and Mervyn Weiner and Lawrence Goddard against it. This will take place in Room 12 of the Arts Building.

"Resolved that the Expansion of the Chain-Stores is Detrimental to the Canadian People" will be supported by A. L. Griffin and Jack Riddle and Maurice Godine and Martin Goldberg will attack this resolution. This debate for the second year will be on February 28.

On February 29, the fourth year debate will be held by A. Lelich-evsky and A. Wilfong will support the resolution "Resolved that during the Past 20 Years Instalment Buying has been detrimental to the Nation's Best Interests." G. Thomas and R. Louthood will constitute the negative team.

Dr. Martin Addressed Pre-Medical Society

Speaking before the Pre-Medical Society this afternoon in the McGill Union, Dr. C. P. Martin stressed the fact that "the main job of a doctor is not diagnosing, but taking responsibility." By "taking responsibility," Dr. Martin explained that he meant "taking responsibility from the shoulders of patients and reassuring them."

Dr. Martin said that most people who start off in medicine become disappointed. At first it dawns on them that doctors don't know as much as they should. They find too that the doctor quite frequently knows what is wrong but doesn't know what best to do. "However," said Dr. Martin, "you can discountenance those feelings. A doctor must not be a technician, he must understand human nature."

Believes in General Practitioner.

Doctor Martin went on to say that he still believed in the General Practitioner, even though they are dying out, adding that there are three kinds of people who haven't made the grade; those who lack a feeling of confidence; those who try to do too much at one time, and those (a minority) who do not work. He expressed the belief that you can do anything you want to. "If you start from the beginning and go slowly," he concluded, "most of you will be driving about in a large limousine."

The speaker was introduced by Ralph Hertz and thanked by John Morton. Gordon Karn reported to the meeting that there would be an informal banquet on March 9 at the McGill Union, with an after-dinner speaker, and dancing following.

She laid the still white form beside those that had gone before. No groan, no sigh burst from her. Suddenly she let forth a cry that pierced the still morning air, making it vibrate into a thousand echoes. It seemed as if it came from her very soul. Twice the cry was repeated, and then all was quiet again. She would lay another egg tomorrow.

HISTORIANS DISCUSS HISTORY OF HUMOUR

Father Hubbard Talks at Loyola Auditorium This Week-end

At a meeting of the R.V.C. Historical Club last night, Eileen E. Ireland read a paper on the history of humour and stated that "Humour is truthful and wit is always an exaggeration."

Humour is divided into many different categories, namely: wit, pathos, wit of truth, wit of professions, creeds, races, satires and ridicule. In classical humour, the peasant is used as the butt of the joke just as we make use of the commercial traveller. An example of this type of humour is the story of "A peasant wishing to see if his horse could live without food, stopped feeding him. After a time the horse died. 'Alas,' said the peasant, 'just as he was learning to live without food he died!'"

Humour is a matter of individual opinion! Everyone laughs at something different. Humour will penetrate the most stubborn defences. It is worth more than the most potent weapon in final victory. Modern humour can be traced back to the classics. There is really no original joke.

A second paper was read by Jean Horton, on the influence of the Duchesse de Chevreuse. The Duchesse was the most intriguing of her century. Her victims were not confined to France alone but were international. Her main assets were her notorious beauty and her fatal charm. She used this charm on various influential people ranging from Louis XIII to Cardinal Richelieu. The most amazing thing about her was her ability to reinstate herself after the most harrowing setbacks. Chalais and Chateaufort were fatally charmed, both losing their heads in interesting affairs. Her character was summed up in a famous statement by Mazarin who said "There was no peace in France until she left it."

So though he didn't look the part We somehow didn't have the heart To call him by his Christian name—It was so awfully weak and tame! And so we racked our tired brain, And toiled and strove with might and main:

And proudly went to let him know That we would henceforth call him "Joe".

Red Cross Notes

T.C. this Branch was asked to organize a canteen to be opened at the Unit's Headquarters on University Street and to be financed by them. Tea is provided for men after lectures and before going on parade. Under capable convenorship, two ladies are in charge with four assistants each Monday, Wednesday and Friday. The average daily attendance is 150 men.

We are most grateful for the many donations received. These have included sewing machines, cutting tables, shelves, irons and complete office equipment and furniture. The Treasurer's report has covered the donations of money.

Our sincere thanks are due to McGill University for providing accommodations for our workroom, supplying light, heat and many other necessities for the efficient operation of this branch.

show for two successive nights. Tonight the boxing and wrestling preliminaries will be run off. Tomorrow afternoon the Intercollegiate wrestling title will be decided. In the evening there will be boxing and wrestling finals, and also a gym meet. This is the one big event which is likely to develop into a clean sweep for the Varsity teams. McGill is not entering men in the 165 or 175 events in the boxing. Which probably means two victories handed the Blues on a silver platter, unless Queen's pulls a hat trick. Toronto is still the team to beat. They beat the Coast Guard Academy boys the other day, just several weeks after the Coast Guard had shacked the Redmen for no wins. Of course, their assault-at-arms was held in Toronto...

BEDTIME STORY.

a grreat big elephant was stalking through the jungle one day when he spied a tiny little mouse scurrying among the leaves at his feet. The elephant stopped to avoid treading on the mouse, and the mouse stopped to see why the earth had ceased shaking. The great big elephant lowered himself to his knees, then to his side, so that he could address the mouse and not the treetops.

"My little mouse," he said, "why don't you grow to be great, big and strong like me? You look pale and sad. What is wrong that has kept you from growing up to walk over trees like I do, instead of under them? You miss the best part of life looking up at it instead of down on it. Tell me, little mouse, what is wrong?"

The little mouse looked paler and sadder than ever. She shivered a little, cleared her throat, collected her thoughts, and then squeaked, "I been sick."

He: But, dearest, I have ten thousand dollars.

She: Oh, well, then, how about another lesson?—Athenaeum.
